

Deppe Bros. Cattle has a rich history in the Hereford business. The Deppe Brothers successfully exhibited cattle at the highest levels in North America. Over the last several years we have assembled an arsenal of donors that are second to none. Breed leading genetics from the top firms in the country. The cattle they are offering come from the core of our cow herd, and there is no question the best of the best are being offered. The steers that have come out the Deppe Bros. previous sales have gone onto with the Junior National Hereford Expo steer show multiple times, and the females have been campaigned successfully for numerous juniors and developed into standout cows in production. The chance is now to invest in the hottest of Hereford genetics! Deppe Bros. Cattle Co. reserves the right to 2 successful flushes on each female in the sale, at the buyer's convenience and the seller's expense.

LOT 1
Polled
DOB: March 25, 2017

Sire: Kahuna • Dam: Kaylynn 248

This Kahuna daughter is one we feel has what it takes to go the distance not only in the show ring, but out in the pasture as well. She combines mass through the center portion of her body and an eye-popping look through her front 1/3 that is rivaled by few. Don't miss out on this unique package of style and maternal capability all rolled into one.

LOT 2

DOB: Feb. 26, 2017

Sire: Trust • Dam: Venus 9070

If we could even begin to explain how highly we think of this girl you would be reading a book longer than your truck's owner's manual. This Trust daughter out of the proven matriarch Venus is the real deal. She provides a very unique combination of dimension, rib shape, and a refined look through her head and neck. Add all of that to the fact that she's as sound as a jungle cat and she is going to have a very exciting outlook ahead.

LOT 3

DOB: March 6, 2017

Sire: Catapult • Dam: Heavenly 417

Cow power, cow power, cow power. The combo of Catapult on our Heavenly 417 (Cracker Jack) is a mating to write home about. To have that much rib shape and dimension at her age is downright baffling. This is one that will be fun to show by all means, but if you want one to go home and raise herd bull after herd bull, I'd take a good hard look right here.

LOT 4

DOB: April 3, 2017

Sire: Full Throttle • Dam: Erin 1012

This girl is a prime example of old school genetics mixed with new school genetics, and working out ten-fold. The way she puts herself together from top to bottom makes her a good fit for any type of producer. Her length of body and fluidity in motion top the long list of attributes that make this heifer a real gem.

LOT 5

DOB: Feb. 7, 2017

Sire: Back in Time • Dam: Venus 9070

The sheer amount of depth to this one's body is impressive in itself. Add how heavily structured she is as well as square out of her hip you begin to put together how extraordinary she is in her make and kind. Top it off with a rock star pedigree and fluidity as she goes into motion, and you have yourself quite the female.

LOT 6

DOB: March 15, 2017

Sire: Dep Generation X • Dam: Kaylynn 248

Time and time again Generation X raises females that make you double take a second look. This heifer is no exception. With her length of spine all the way up through her front end she definitely attains special eye appeal. Even as green as she currently is, she explodes through the center portion of her body and presents the needed width to excel on down the line. Her dark red color and potential to have shag even in the hottest days of the summer all add up to one complete package.

STEERS

LOT 7

Steer

DOB: April 13, 2017

Sire: Dep Generation X • Dam: Kaylynn 248
A real balanced Generation X son out of Kaylynn 248 (Crackerjack) would fit in well in almost any juniors show string. This steer provides the muscle, width of top, and overall eye appeal it takes to go out and sort himself to the head of classes at every level. With that long of a neck and a showy hind leg, he will turn heads next summer.

LOT 8

Steer

DOB: April 16, 2017

Sire: Dep Generation X • Dam: Venus
Future is the only thing that comes to mind when beginning to analyze this young prospect. He is eerily similar to his full brother, the 2016 Grand Champion Steer at Hereford Junior Nationals in Madison. Eye appeal, dimension, balance, he has it all. We can't begin to express how much we feel this young Venus son has ahead of him.

LOT 9

Steer

DOB: April 14, 2017

Sire: Dep Good and Plenty • Dam: Venus 9070
There is not much that this Good and Plenty son doesn't possess. That much muscle and rib shape doesn't tag team with that freaky of a front end very often. Good and Plenty calves continue to impress year after year with their overabundance of muscle and show ring pizzazz. Take this one home, feed him, and enjoy the ride because it is bound to be an awfully fun show season with him on the halter.

LOT 10

Steer

DOB: March 15, 2017

Sire: Full Throttle • Dam: Miss Platinum 8038
This Full Throttle son out of Miss Platinum 8038 (Ribstone) provides all the necessities desired when looking to go out and win you some purple down the road. The amount of pure muscle and capacity he provides this early in his life is rivaled by few, along with the stylish nature of his head and neck makes him a very intriguing, yet fault free choice for a young prospect.
